THE BIG DAY

It was a warm and sunny day, perfect for a parade and a football game. The air was full of anticipation and questions. Who would win the float contest? Who would win the football game? And, who would be the new Homecoming Queen?

The day began with the parade at 11:00. Each class showed their spirit by entering a float in the contest.

At halftime, the marching band played several selections, before the big announcement of the day. As the court walked on to the field, the air was full of anticipation. First, the runner-up, Vera Miller, was announced. The crowd silenced as the announcement began. "The 1987 Homecoming Queen is Ericka Williams." After the crowd calmed, the floats began to circle the track for the announcement of the winning float. Each class was hoping to be the winner. The winner is...the Senior Class. When the announcement came, the Seniors ripped apart the sun, and blue, white, and yellow balloons filled the air.

Next, the game continued. Despite the fact that the game ended in a 17-0 defeat, everyone had an enjoyable time, and will long remember Homecoming 1987.

Above: Awaiting the announcement of Homecoming Queen, Jennifer Bragg, Trent Goulette, and Melissa Kalmer are nervous members of the Homecoming Court. Spirit Week Spirit Week is intended to develop pride and school spirit for the annual Homecoming football game. Spirit Week began on October 19, 1987 with Pajama day, followed by Opposite day, Toga day, Kindergarten day and ended with the traditional Blue and White day and the pep rally on Friday. Many students participated in the individual days and spirit in the school soared.

Players "Saddle-Up" to Play Basketball

In early November many fans, students, and faculty piled into the gym to watch Donkey Basketball. The night contained a doubleheader as the seniors were set to play the juniors and then the faculty. The classes "saddled-up" and began the game. The seniors quickly ran up the score, but the juniors eventually caught up in a game that was marred with stiff rivalry. In a traditional senior game, the juniors lost and the seniors came out victorious. Next, the final stage was set for the big game: the Seniors vs. the Faculty. The senior's earlier luck faded as they gallantly lost to the stronger, more experienced faculty.

Adam Tobin was the student director, and Meredith Davey was the stage director.

Director Kirk Thompson had this to say about the play, "We did a show that was different from anything we have done in the past. Since I've been directing at Howard High School, we've never crossed these new materials in plays before. We had a fine mix of newcomers & veterans of the Howard High stage. I was very pleased that the show was not only funny, but the cast did a great job with the timing, comedy & lines." It would have never been successful without the support I received from all of the talented, dedicated kids I had the pleasure of working with. The support I had from the staff was great, of course. Every one of you made my job seem like a party. Seniors Dave Alberding and Trish Ellis, two veterans to the Howard stage were delighted and proud with their final performance. The group, under the direction of Mr. Rick Lawrence, did a total of 12 performances all over the county and in a nationwide music festival in Myrtle Beach, S.C. At the County Madrigal Adjudication, the group maintained its reputation of being the best.

Mr. Lawrence said of the group, "They were great to work with. Everyone got along great and really performed as a team." Below: Working together is an essential part of a Madrigal group, as Jennifer Donovan shows while giving her best cat face for "Counterpoint of the Animals."

The Concert Band and Marching Band, headed by Mr. James Johnston, did a great job. There was a lot of teamwork put into making band one of the best. The band participated in many exciting projects and trips. To help fund these programs, they were involved in various activities. One member ended off by stating, "It was so much fun! Everyone got along, and there was so much teamwork. The whole time we were striving to be the best. We wouldn't settle for anything less!" Right: Playing along with good friends, David Gregor keeps the pace during the Winter Concert.

The group did a great job, earning straight 1's from the judges. To end the year with an up beat, the group traveled to Myrtle Beach, South Carolina to compete against schools from all over the East Coast. Everyone did a great job performing and enjoyed the beach very much. Left: Performing for their fellow students, Concert Choir enjoys singing during the Winter Concert.

Students Get It Right

At The Write Place

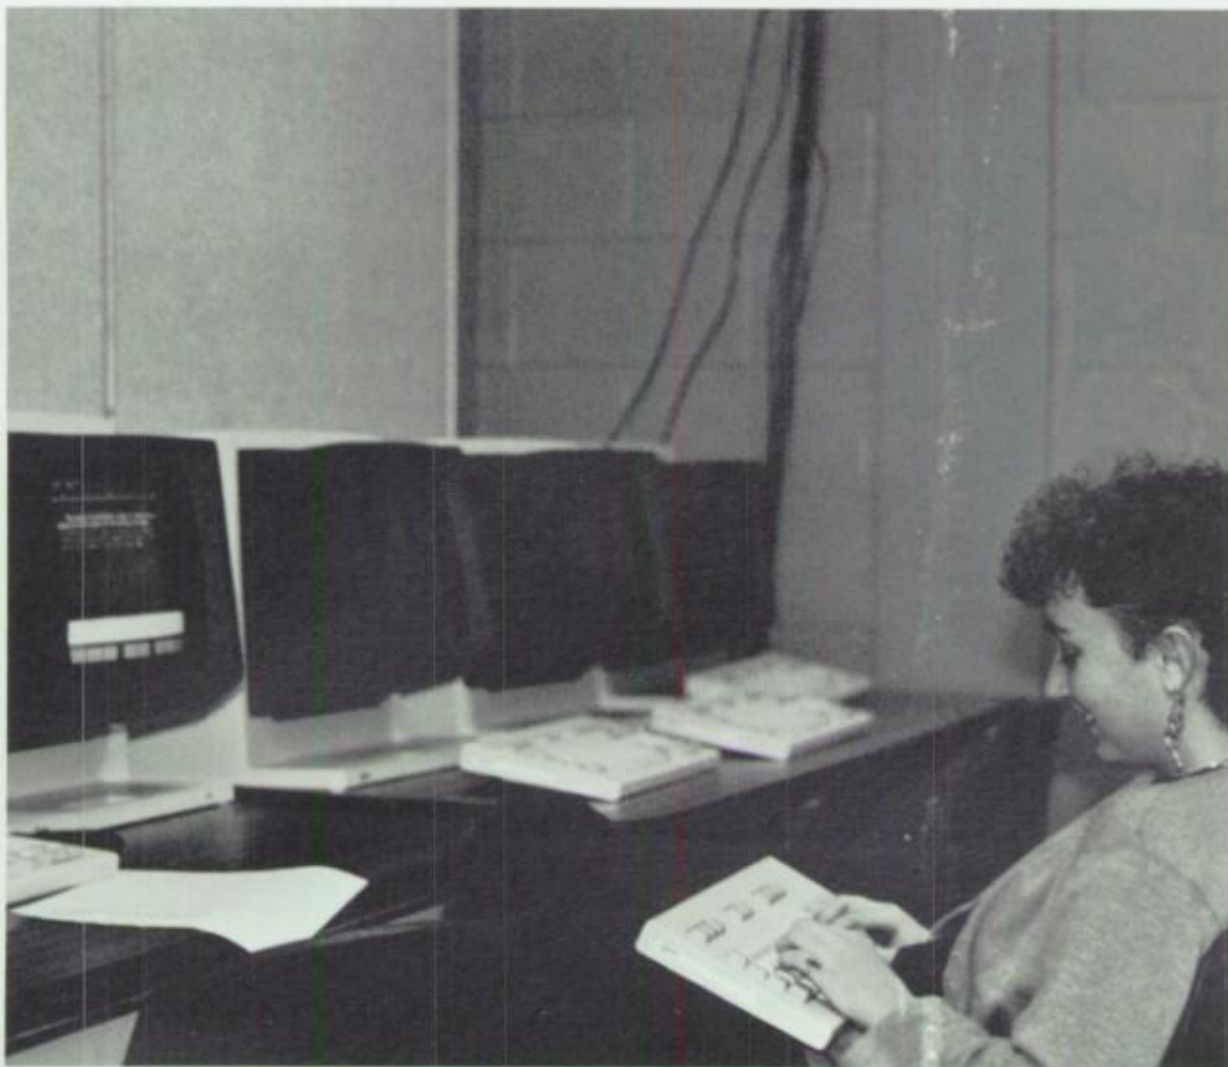

The Write Place was very fundamental, helping freshmen and others pass the Maryland Writing Test. The theme "Writing Across The Curriculum" was also instrumental as many students sought help in class writing projects. Under the leadership of Mr. Roger Plunkett, assisted by Mrs. Julia Lawrence and Mrs. Gabija Blotzer, the Write Place served as a model for other schools in Maryland. Right: The Write Place tutors Front Row: Jeff Kendrick, Erin Connors, Dusty Weaver, Trevor Kalbaugh, Travis Carter Back Row: Robin Thompson, Kris Scalese, Mark Melton, Leslie Ames, Demetrios Nicholson, Nancy Brenowitz, Jenny Madachy

National Honor Society

The National Honor Society was made up of a very select group of students, all of whom maintained a 3.3 GPA. In order to become a member, one had to apply and meet certain requirements. Leadership abilities, community service and academic excellence were among the requirements.

Despite various after school activities, the members still made time to do things as a group. Such activities included fundraisers, quality time with the elderly and participation in many charity programs.

Junior Varsity Football

The J.V. football team fought its way through an aggressive season. As many Freshmen would say, the season was a learning experience. As assistant coach Chris Lima said, "We took 56 individuals at the beginning of the season and molded each one of them into a lean, mean fighting machine." Each personality, as different as they were, fused together somewhere in the season to give the team the fighting spirit. The players started the season well with many close games. Because of the team's unity and determination, J.V. football drew larger crowds than normal.

Boys J.V. Soccer

JV Boys Soccer played extremely well and worked very hard. The team's strong defense repeatedly motivated the offense. Their winning season was a result of their ability to work well together. Players noted for their contributions time and time again were Joey Wilson, Jim Urbanski, Scott Fry, and Seth Bachman.

The most exciting game of the season came as the team battled Mt. St. Joe. Coming from behind, Howard struggled to gain control. Under the leadership of Coach Dave Vezzi, The Varsity Softball Team, composed of fourteen young ladies, finished its season with an overall record of 9-9 and a county record of 6-8. Because of very unusual weather, the team had to postpone and delay many of its games, putting the pressure on the players to try even harder to win under a shorter period of time. The team finished 4th in the county and went on to face Mt. Hebron in the first game of the Regional Playoffs, which was one of the players' most challenging games. "We worked hard together," remarked Junior Cindy Perry, "and even though we didn't win it all, we showed great ability of what a softball team can do."

The Howard Tennis Team was very strong in the county, resulting in second place finish. There were twenty team members, with only three seniors. Playing in the number one singles positions were Andrea Nichols and Larry Katkow. Eric Solomon and Danny Sherman played the number one boys doubles position, while Senior Debi Cole and Jennie Cross played girls doubles. The number two singles players were Bobby Watson and Brigid Condon. The team's most exciting match was against Atholton, the last game of the season, when they fought for a second place battle. Because of many cancelled games due to rain, the tennis season ended very late, but all the players remained dedicated and in top form. Coach John Quinn was very pleased with the players performance. Placing second in the County Tournament, Andrea Nichols and Larry Katkow advanced to the Regional Tournament. "With seventeen returning players, the County Title is within our grasp," remarked Danny Sherman.

A mixture of experienced players from the recreational leagues and un-experienced newcomers to the sport made a great combination. The team members worked hard and learned a great deal from coaches, Kathy Cordillo and Janet Anderson. Captains Jennifer Titus, Stacy O'Neil, and Lucinda Frink led the team throughout the season. When asked about the team, Lucinda Frink replied, "For the first year that this sport has been played in public schools, I think we did well with what we had to work with." Seniors

Seniors . . . Only The Beginning

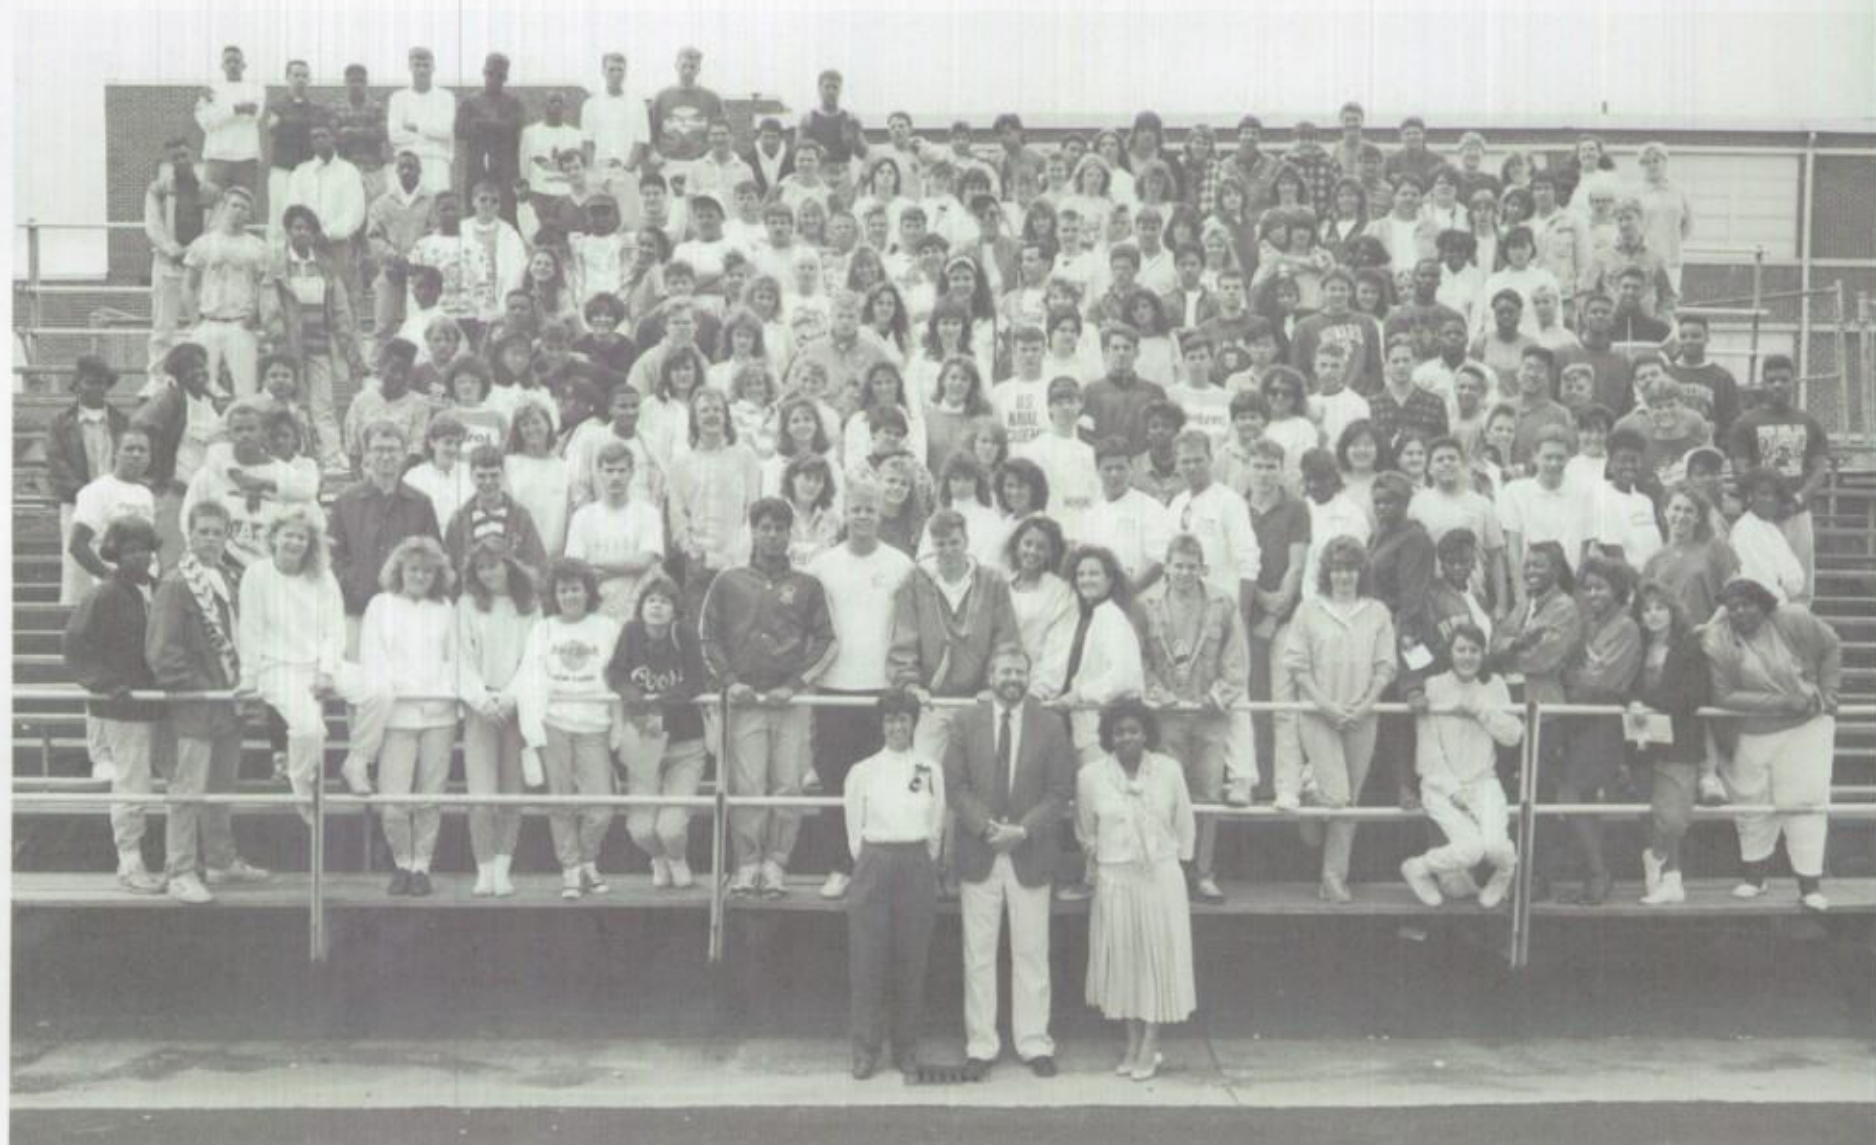

After twelve long years of school, the Senior Class of 1988 finally reached a turning point in their lives. June 6th marked the time when most Seniors began taking on new responsibilities and started on the final road to adulthood.

From the first day of freshman year to the ring ceremony, from winning Homecoming floats to Battle of the Classes, from Prom to Graduation - Seniors will always remember their years of final preparation for the world that lies beyond the walls of Howard High.

Countless college applications and job interviews have led seniors to college or the job market, and these memories form a common bond that unites the Class of 1988.

Senior Class Breakfast

Under the leadership of Class President Trevor Kalbaugh and Class Adviser Mrs. Mary Massaquoi, the Senior Class began a new tradition with the Senior Class Breakfast, held on the last day of class for seniors.

The breakfast was organized by Mrs. Barbara Kendrick and other parent volunteers who did an outstanding job decorating as well as preparing and serving food. "The breakfast was a creative idea," remarked one senior. A majority of the Seniors came to the breakfast which was held in the cafeteria from 9:00-10:00AM. There were also faculty members in attendance. Although the food was good and they had a chance to share another final moment together, many Seniors were beginning to feel sad because the end was approaching.

Senior Class Night

Four long years of homework, school dances, assemblies, football games, and field parties came to an end for the Class of '88 on Friday, June 3rd at Senior Class Night. When The Lady Baltimore, the newest ship at the Harbor, set out for its nightly cruise up the Inner Harbor, the Seniors were aboard. They spent their time eating, dancing, strolling on the deck, enjoying the senior slide show prepared by Mrs. Anne Nicodemus, and simply spending some final moments with their friends. The best thing about Class Night is the way everyone comes together as a class, and The Class of '88 was no exception.

"Eat your hearts out, guys," says Travis Carter.

Seniors share a final dance together.

Robert Ha and Toney Richey are among the first to arrive for the cruise.

Dream It, Believe It, Achieve It

On July 6, 1988, 242 members of the Class of '88 and faculty members dressed in caps and gowns entered the school auditorium to a full house of parents, grandparents, aunts, uncles, and friends as the band played "Pomp and Circumstance." The day that the seniors had waited for twelve years had arrived - Graduation.

After Mrs. Massaquoi introduced the guests, Class President Trevor Kalbaugh gave an address reminding the Seniors of the good times they had had together. Mr. Savoy gave the faculty address, and Mr. Larry Cohen, former Vice-Principal, gave the main address. Both men encouraged the graduates to make a difference in society as they use their individual talents.

Touching the hearts of many students and families, Senior Class President Trevor Kalbaugh gives his farewell speech.

Academics

Administration / Secretaries

The administration provided the students and faculty with the help they needed to keep the school running smoothly. With the addition of our new Assistant Principal, Dr. Jack Dellastatious, new programs were added to the school's present policy. Overall, the year was one of the most productive with its new ideas and changes. Right: Contrary to popular belief, Principal Eugene Streagle does more than simply administer over the faculty and student body.

Math: A New Experience

Twenty-two students came to school Friday morning, October 9th, with sleeping bags and moved in for part of the weekend. From after school on Friday till Saturday noon, these young people worked and played hard, under the direction of 12 volunteers from the Mathematics Department, Guidance Department, and Administration. The students studied in small classes and participated in a number of mathematics-related activities. In addition, they played volleyball and basketball and did lots of eating, talking, and laughing. Math can be mentally challenging for some students, but for some they seem to excel and master mathematics. The Math Department is able to meet the challenge by providing courses in General Math to Calculus III.

So when you sometimes say you really hate Math and want to quit, just think that Math might guide you to a career you really want.

Well, if it does you are one of many people who enjoy the subject of science.

Howard's science classes spent time inside and outside the classroom. They went many places including canoe rides and museums. Other activities included building toothpick bridges in physics and many exciting labs in Biology.

Foreign Language: Special Keys

Foreign Language is a subject many students choose to take. Later in life they may realize that certain advantages to a language stay with them. Studies have shown that mastering a language will enhance your enjoyment of the country you visit, reduce your frustration and isolation as you travel. Ms. Thomas said "By taking a foreign language, it broadens their horizons, increases their knowledge of the world, and it also helps us to understand ourselves better." People have been shown to achieve greater mental flexibility due to having a bilingual education.

A language can open up the world around you. Foreign Language teachers tried to add to the enjoyment of taking a language by going on trips. French students went to Chez Fernand for French food and they also traveled to Quebec in Canada for three days of Carnaval. Spanish students went to the Plata Grande for Mexican food and went to Don Quixote, which had Spanish dancers and singers. There was a very unique and neat experience between (March 17, 1988-March 31, 1988). For two weeks a group of fifteen French students from France came to stay with many people. The French and American students went to many places together. Each side got a closer chance to view each others' cultures by being together. It was a very memorable experience.

P.E. not only helps young adults to keep their well-being and physical fitness after high-school and throughout their lives, but it also gives people a chance to exercise and have fun.

Howard County requires one year of P.E. to graduate. Mr. Ross had this to say about requiring only one year of P.E., "I feel that this is an injustice to our youth. Students should be required to take another physical activity their junior or senior year before graduating."

The types of activities that both boys and girls play in P.E. are tennis, track and field, football, soccer, lacrosse, field hockey, volley ball, floor hockey, and baseball or softball.

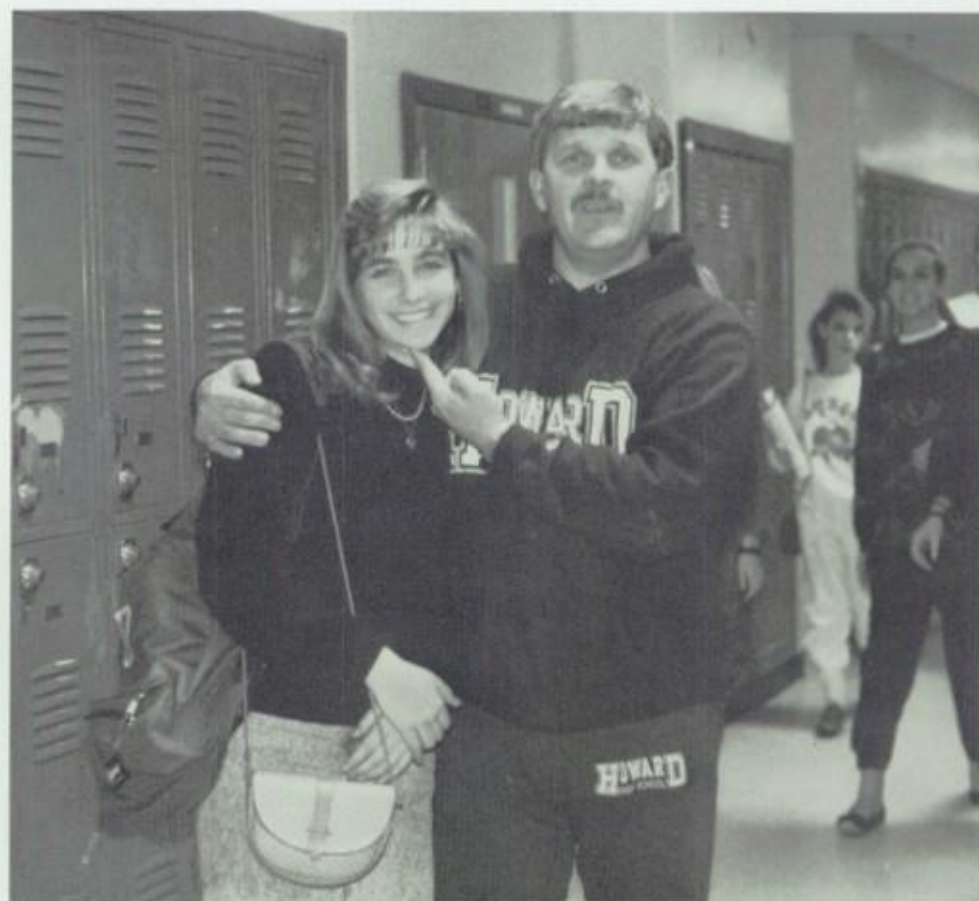

After you have taken your required course of P.E., you are given the opportunity to take dance, weightlifting, or field sports.

The Music Department continued to reign with a lot of talented students. Mr. Rick Lawrence was the choral teacher. Mr. James Johnston was the band teacher, and Mr. Mark Ulrich conducted the orchestra. Under their leadership, the Madrigals, concert choir, band and orchestra performed throughout the year at many local and state functions, including performances at Security Square Mall, Turf Valley Country Club, and private parties. Concert Choir and the Madrigals also traveled to Myrtle Beach, South Carolina to participate in the FIESTA-VAL Competition. There the choir performed extremely well. According to Mr. Lawrence, "Concert Choir is a very challenging class. Many of the singers are first year students, and it is very interesting to note their progress throughout the year. I feel fortunate to have the opportunity to work with so many talented students."

Art/Home Economics/Industrial Arts

The Howard High Art Department can boast of being the largest Art department in the county. The team of two fulltime teachers, Martha Holsue and Elizabeth Barillaro, constantly worked to improve the program and introduce new ideas. Several activities coordinated with other departments such as English, Film Arts and science, helped in developing a greater understanding of art.

The Home Economics Department headed by Mrs. Norma Goetting had a very busy year. The Exploring Childhood classes and the nursery classes were full with three and four years old. The food classes were crowded with enthusiastic students and the improvement of these programs was amazing.

The Industrial Arts Department, headed by Mr. Roger Marshall, introduced a new Architectural Drafting course. Seniors who took this course built a strong foundation for their college career. Mechanical Drawing underwent a rebirth which included more sophisticated engineering skills and computer use. Left: William Gover is checking over his calculations.

Class Officers

This year an exciting selection of students was chosen to represent the junior class. The class officers consisted of President Apryl Motley; Vice President Zay Collier; Secretary Jennifer Bragg; and Treasurer Michelle Bobart.

As a whole, this class promises to be one of the most successful Howard High had ever seen. The junior class hoped to maximize class, school spirit and unity. The class sponsored bunny grams, turkey grams, carnation sales, and much more to insure that enough money was made.

When asked how she felt about the class she was leading, Apryl Motley responded, "We are the best, and we are concentrating on challenging our energies to use this asset to benefit our class and our school."

Dating

These days many different beliefs about dating can be acquired when a student is asked. Guys have certain opinions and girls have others. Who is right? That is up to the individual. Here are some answers we got from those juniors questioned:

1. What do you look for in a guy/girl?

Girl: honesty, fun, sensitivity, sense of humor, mature, respect, nice eyes, nice body

Boy: good looks, nice personality

2. Who pays on the date?

Girl: he does most of the time

Boy: whoever asked the other out

3. Does the guy open the doors or help the girl with her things on the date?

Girl: sometimes, but he should

Boy: He should, but I don't

4. Do you like to see one person or date around?

Girl: Depends on the situation, one person

Boy: One person, or date around

5. Are looks important? Why or why not?

Girl: Looks are what first attracts you to the person. They don't necessarily have to be gorgeous, but then their personality is the determinant in the longevity and seriousness of the relationship

Boy: YES!

Checking Up On Sophomores

Class Officers

The Sophomore class advised by Mr. David Ditman had a successful year. Fifteen percent of the Sophomore class participated in the selling of pom-poms, carnations and holiday grams, to raise money for the class. Fifty out of three hundred Sophomores made the honor roll, with straight A's and B's. Checking Up On Sophomores

Sophomore Hall

As one walks down the Sophomore hall, one might have first noticed the great number of people crowding around lockers. Of course the lockers are decorated with the latest fashion ads, pictures of friends, and just about anything one could think of. Keeping the locker tidy and up to date is essential. Now, as one turns the corner and sees the Sophomore class bulletin board, one can obviously see that they keep the calendar up to date as well. The board was always decorated with the monthly events, posted with a certain flair. It is easy to see that the Sophomores take pride in their hallway, just as they take pride in their class!

Checking Up On Sophomores Making the Change

After recuperating from the Freshman year, it was about time for some big changes in Howard High's tenth graders. Sophomores usually take on a totally different perspective during this year. As the school year rapidly passed by, Sophomores began to notice a number of strange changes. Some change friends, values, style, or most of all, personality. Many people mature the most their Sophomore year. It's a time to discover who you are and who you are going to be someday. Sophomores usually find themselves spending time thinking about the future, jobs, friends, dating, and much more. Some find themselves experiencing many new things, meeting new people, and having lots of fun. "The Sophomore year is probably the most important year to find out about yourself," says Todd Sirasky. That is what the Sophomore year is all about...making the change. Above Right: Derrick Leak, Tai Ton, and Michael Blackstone chill on the bleachers. Right: Sophomores prepare for the pep rally.

Checking up on Freshmen

Class Officers

This year's freshmen class, under the guidance of their sponsor, Mr. Ed Nawrocki, did a great job overcoming the drawbacks that came with being the newest class. The first order of business that they accomplished was to elect their class officers. As soon as the freshmen government was established and settled in, they began activities to raise money. The first fundraiser they participated in was the annual peanut candy sale on Homecoming Day, which proved to be very successful. The class also sold Howard High School sweatshirts and tee-shirts and sponsored a profitable car wash later in the school year.

Freshmen class President, Cory Taylor, said of the class of 1991, "We were able to learn about the way high school government works and raise some money for our class at the same time. I feel like we accomplished a lot and we became unified as a class this year, which will last for the years to come."

Sitting on the gazebo in the senior courtyard are the freshman class officers; Secretary Jennifer Folkemer, Vice President Cathy Bedolla, Treasurer Zack Rubin, and President Courtney Taylor.

"I am encouraged by the growth that some freshmen have already made and I am certain they will accomplish whatever they set out to do. Howard High School will benefit from their efforts." - Mr. Ed Nawrocki

"Sometimes high school is embarrassing, but for the most part you have more freedom in high school. No one nags you or chases you around." - Jenniffer Link

Checking up on Freshman

New Kid on the Block

As the lone Freshman enters high school, he is filled with many insecurities. The freshman is faced with problems; such as making new friends, becoming popular, and harder classes.

As freshman Sena Pringle said, "The first couple of weeks were pretty scary. The school was a lot bigger than I expected and I didn't know anyone except for a few people in my classes. The upperclassmen didn't make it any easier. They can be very intimidating at times."

Freshmen soon learned that in order to deal with their insecurities they had to form groups and watch out for one another. Friendships grew and a feeling of unity was established throughout the class. Through the friendships that were formed, and the unity that was established, the new kid on the block became an accepted member of Howard High School.

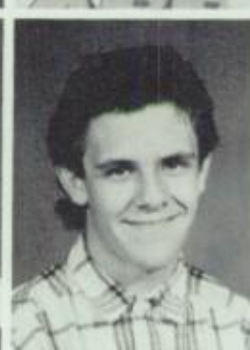

Listening to Mr. Streagle speak at the Freshman Orientation, this new student learned what to expect in high school.

Checking up on Freshmen

Every Man for Himself

Every year when a new freshmen class enters Howard, most of the students have anticipated many of the problems they will be facing; harder classes, dealing with older students, etc. But freshmen usually overlook one of the biggest problems all new students face: that dreaded five minutes between class, when we are forced to brave the battle zoned halls of Howard High School.

The first day is always the worst. It is this day that nearly every student is present, including all the newly transferred students and the freshmen, most of which have absolutely no idea where they are in the halls. Changing classes for them might even be considered physically dangerous, especially if by accident they happen to smack right into a big senior football player in a bad mood. So the bell rings, and the freshman, with school map in hand, ventures out into the unknown in search of his next class. After one wasted minute of searching for a staircase, the freshman stops an upper-classman for directions. Next thing he knows, he is looking for the elevator that takes students to the third floor, where the pool and the World History classrooms are. After circling the school three and a half times, he is back where he started. He turns around and discovers that the room he was looking for is right across the hall from the room he left four minutes ago. Then, forty minutes later, the entire process starts over; back to the halls of Howard High, where it's every man for himself.

Checking up on Freshmen

A Year to Remember

If you were to ask a freshman about his feelings towards the freshmen year, you would get a wide variety of answers.

Scott Johnson and Carl Umburger found participating in sports new and exciting. They liked the challenge that came with being a member of a sports team.

Marla Niemiec said, "Although there were a lot of adjustments coming to Howard High School, I found it exciting. I liked meeting new people, and playing a sport."

Although there are many different problems with being the newest high school student, most freshmen found their year to be a year to remember.

Looking back on her freshman year, Bridget Repsher will always remember her days of playing soccer for the Lions.

 If you can stop one heart from breaking,
 You shall not live in vain;

WHERE OTHERS HAVE THEIR BRANCHES, WE HAVE OUR ROOTS.

Today's banking picture leaves a lot to be desired. The big financial networks have branches everywhere. The home office dictates policies for everyone . . . which means the real decision makers are often hundreds of miles away. While you're looking for personal service . . . big banks' employees are climbing the corporate ladder. Their main concern? Personal success. At our Independent Bank things are different. We have our roots firmly planted in the community we serve. When you need to see a decision maker, you see a neighbor who's responsive to the local economic climate and has the responsibility for making your money work here . . . in our community. If your bank gives you the feeling you're out on a limb . . . maybe it's time to bank the Independent Way.

You Know Us. We Know You.
